

Energy-efficient new homes

R-2000* homes are in a class of their own.

Reputation is everything, and R-2000 homes certainly live up to theirs:

- quality design that gives exceptional comfort
- an advanced ventilation system that provides fresh, filtered air around the clock
- leading-edge technology other houses just can't offer
- energy efficiency features that lower heating and cooling bills significantly
- environmental features that use our natural resources wisely

Expect more from your new home, and brand it with the best-in-class energy efficiency label.

50 percent more energy-efficient than a typical home.
